MAGRATH A CANDIDATE ON PROGRESSIVE PLATFORM

Favors Commission Government, Municipal Gas, Fair Wages and More Hustle in the City Hall—Leaves for East Today on Three Weeks' Visit

W. J. Magrath, of the Magrath, Holgate company, who has been mentioned as a candidate for mayor of the amalgamated city of Edmonton for the year 1912, left for the east this morning, intending to be out of the city until November 28th. Before leaving he was interviewed by the Capital regarding his intentions as a candidate, and stated that he was undoubtedly in the field and hoped to win.

"I am by no means an office-seeker," said Mr. Magrath, "as my record in the past will show. But I have been requested by a great number of friends and influential citizens to allow my name to go before the ratepayers and I believe that I will be able to give the city good service. If I fail to do so I will not be found one clinging to office in the face of a hostile citizenship and will not seek to intrude myself on the community for a day after I feel that my usefulness as a civic [illegible] has been impaired by anything I have done.

"I have not a great deal to say at the present moment about municipal policy. Nor have I anything to say in disparagement of the gentlemen who have in the past held office as mayors and councillors of the city of Edmonton, but it seems to me that there is room for a little more hustle and hustle in the city hall than has been evident during the past two or three years. Here in the west we are in the midst of big things. There are a great many enormous industries locating in the prairie province and it seems to me that one of the first duties of the city hall authorities is to reach out and endeavor to secure all of these than can be brought to the city. We should not stand back with any feeling of security that because of the fact that Edmonton has progressed so far that we are therefore safe; that things are bound to come to this city anyway. If we do so we will certainly get left. I do not know just exactly how my idea could be put into the form of a policy, but I will say that what we need is a little more of what is usually called "ginger" in the city hall.

"With regard to the forms of gov-

Inter-Urban Car Service Far From Being Perfect

Cars Run Behind and Sometimes Ahead of Time, No Definite Schedule Being Maintained—Workmen Will Register Protest if Conditions Not Remedied

That the car service on the inter-Urban line is far from what it should or is supposed to be, is doubly evident to those who have occasion to ride on the cars operating between the two cities and unless steps are taken to remedy the evil in the near future, a voluminous protest is certain to result.

In a dozen of different ways is the service proven inadequate. This morning with forty workingmen on board the car, due at their work at eight o'clock, the conductor held his car at the switch at the top of the hill on the south side for nearly 25 minutes. While he was waiting the other car was also waiting at the switch at the brewery. After waiting for some time, at least fifteen of the men got out and walked to their destinations although they had already paid their fares. While the second car from the south ran in behind the first and both proceeded to this side of the river meeting the other car at the bridge.

Yesterday afternoon the conductors and motormen on two of the cars found it necessary to change cars in order to get on their right schedules. The conductor of one car went out the back door, the motorman out of the front, leaving both doors wide open. Arrived in the other car they proceeded to discuss various topics for about five minutes. Meanwhile the passengers, anxious to get to their destinations waited and shivered.

Those riding on the interurban cars also allege that in many instances the cars not only run behind time, but, early in the mornings, go ahead of time, the motormen and conductors, when they arrive at the switch putting in their time by reading and talking until time to pull out again.

There are a large number from the south side who work in Edmonton and are due at their places of business at 7 and 8 o'clock. Some times they are on time, when they take an earlier car, but more often they are late, that they are late. It has been suggested that steps be taken to remedy conditions by appointing an inspector for the Strathcona line, and unless something is done in the immediate future the question will be taken up with the Strathcona council.

EXHIBITION PARK IS RIGHT UP TO DATE

"I have never seen an exhibition park designed upon a better plan than yours, and none which provides more adequately for all the various features of a big exhibition," said C. W. Graham, secretary of the Winnipeg horse show, after paying a visit to the grounds of the Edmonton exhibition association yesterday.

Mr. Graham came into the city accompanied by D. E. Sprague, a director of the Winnipeg exhibition association. The two Winnipeg men are making an effort to arrange for a horse show circuit through the western provinces. They were in Calgary a couple of days ago.

Yesterday afternoon they were driven on to the fair grounds in a covered automobile by Manager A. G. Harrison, and made a tour of the principal buildings.

GIVEN TWO YEARS

Cornwall, Ont., Nov. 9.—Francis Lalonde, of Martintown, arrested last week for cruel treatment of his wife, was sentenced by Magistrate Danis to two years in the penitentiary and five lashes.

MRS. POTTS, of New York, prominent society woman, who while in the hospital with typhoid, learned that her husband had died of the same disease in the ward just across the hall.

HOTELS NOT BUILT BY SEPARATE COMPANY

G. T. P. Officials Deny That Grand Trunk Pacific Is Not Directly Behind Hostelries

There are absolutely no grounds for the statement made by Sir William McKenzie of the G.N.R. to the effect that the G.T.P. hotels along the line of the national transcontinental are being built by a company separate from the railway corporation, according to Louis Coté of Winnipeg, a G.T.P. official, directly connected with the department of the road under which the construction of the hotels has been placed., who was in Edmonton yesterday.

"We cannot imagine what would prompt Sir William to make such a statement" said Mr. Coté. "The hotels will be owned and operated by the railway company, in connection with their passenger service."

Mr. Coté said that construction work is proceeding apace on the big hotel to be erected by the company in Winnipeg. A large force of men with complete equipment is now making the excavations for the foundation of the building. He could not give any definite information as to when construction work on the Edmonton hotel would commence. The plans for the building are not quite complete, he said.

THREE CANDIDATES FOR THE OFFICE OF MAYOR

Before departing today on a business trip to Ottawa, W. J. Magrath, of the Magrath, Holgate realty company, announced his candidacy for the office of mayor of the city of Edmonton.

With the announcement of the candidacy of Mr. Magrath three candidates appear in the field. Mayor Armstrong seeks to succeed himself, while Major Saunders has announced his intention of sending his name before the voters.

Lisbon, Nov. 9.—As a result of the opposition of the parliamentary group headed by Antonio Almeida the ministry of Premier Chaga resigned today.

STATE STEAMER HAS GONE DOWN

TWO OTHERS ARE STRANDED BY ICE PICTURE—CREWS ARE REPORTED SAFE.

Kenora, Ont., Nov. 9.—Much anxiety is felt in town since the receipt of a wire from Warroad this morning stating that the steamer Forest "B," owned by Mr. Bacudro of the Beaudette Fisheries, Rainy river, is ice-bound with a hole in her bow near Pointers rock, south of the little Traverse lake, of the Woods, loaded with supplies and having a large barge heavily freighted.

She was on her way to Grassey river Camp and Rainy river. Efforts have been unsuccessful so far to send a boat to her aid, from this point or Rainy river owing to the boats being in requisition elsewhere. Another report received here today that one of the largest barges of the Rat Portage Lumber company in tow of the steamer Empress, states that she struck a rock out in the lake and sank.

It was heavily loaded with supplies for one of the winter lumber camps, and if rumor is true, the loss will be in the neighborhood of $9,000.

NEARLY HALF OF LINE FINISHED

CONSTRUCTION OF C. N. R. MAIN LINE PROCEEDING VERY SATISFACTORILY

(Western Associated Press.)

Toronto, Nov. 9.—Reports just compiled at the head office of the Canadian Northern railway show that 992 miles of new track out of the building program comprising 1982 miles had been completed in Alberta and Saskatchewan on the 30th of September, and it is expected that at least 100 miles in addition would be constructed before the work was stopped by winter.

On the new line from Edmonton to Calgary, the grading is now finished for the entire distance of 285 miles. It is likely that the rails will be laid into Calgary early next year. The site for the Calgary passenger station has been cleared.

On the main line westward from Edmonton, 62 miles of grading has been done from the present terminus reaching to the Pembina river, and tracks will be in position before January.

An important piece of work on the Pacific division of the Canadian Northern is from Spence's Bridge to Walhachin, between Lytton and Ashcroft stations in British Columbia. On 30 miles of this are four tunnels of 1,500, 1,000, 500 and 600 feet to be bored. About 1,000 men are now working on the tunnel, and boring is to continue throughout the cold weather. At present 16,686 men are employed in construction work on the various divisions, the largest parties being in British Columbia, where 3,500 are at work and on the Port Arthur to Sellwood line in Ontario, where 3,500 are building the new road.

WINTER STRIKES CANADIAN WEST

MERCURY HOVERS AROUND THE ZERO MARK—COLD IN THE WESTERN PROVINCES

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—A general lowering of temperature, accompanied by snowfalls of from three to five inches, gave promise today of the opening of winter in the West. The temperature hovered around zero in most places in Saskatchewan and Alberta, but in Manitoba the cold was not so pronounced, the snow melting immediately after falling.

Unfavorable weather conditions have had a depressing effect in farming communities of the farther west, owing to the fact that the late harvest and inclement weather of the fall has left much threshing still undone. In the majority of places in Saskatchewan and Alberta fully fifty per cent. of the crop is still in stook, while at Macleod sixty-five per cent. of the grain is still to be threshed.

Even in the places where the snow fell but lightly, the threshing is much delayed, the outfits experiencing much trouble in handling the damp sheaves. Manitoba is in more favorable condition, owing to the fact that harvesting was accomplished earlier than in the sister provinces, consequently the threshing is far advanced. Some of the elevator companies doing business in the province, report up to date, having handled as much grain as in the whole of last season.

MINERS ANXIOUS TO GO TO WORK

AGREEMENT WILL IN ALL PROBABILITY BE SIGNED BETWEEN NOW AND SATURDAY

(Special to the Capital)

Lethbridge, Alta., Nov. 9. Hurried along by the miners who are anxious to get back to work with the coming of the frosty weather it was learned on good advice today that the miners will have voted on the proposed agrement, and the agreement will have been signed for a period of three-and-one-half years, before six o'clock Saturday night. The miners are so anxious to get back to work that they would go back into mines in hundreds tomorrow morning if they were thrown open. Work however will start on Monday morning next for a certainty.

WOOD BUFFALO'S SKULL IS FOUND

HAS BEEN PRESENTED TO PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT TO BE PLACED IN MUSEUM

The skull of a wood buffalo, found by the guardian appointed by the Dominion authorities to preserve the herd which ranges near the northern boundary of the province, and turned over to Inspector R. Field, in charge of the detachment of the R.N.W.M.P. at Smith Landing, has been presented to the provincial government by order of Commissioner Perry, and will be placed in the museum in the new parliament building. In this museum also the full sized wood buffalo shot by Harry Radford last year, and given to the province, will be placed.

One of the horns of the buffalo whose skull was discovered by the dominion game guardian, was missing, but from the other it was possible to determine the age of the animal, which was twenty years old at the time of its death. Inspector Field thought the skull and in places become fossilized, but it appears to be in fine shape for the case, and the animal has been dead only for a few years. Some portions of the dried skin are not completely wasted away.

Wood buffalo are among the rarest of the fauna of Alberta. The herd which ranges on the borderline in the Mackenzie is the only herd in Alberta and its preservation has become a matter of special care to the dominion government.

VANCOUVER ADOPTS COMMISSION PLAN

GOES INTO EFFECT IN 1913—MAYOR'S SALARY TO BE $10,000 PER YEAR.

(Western Associated Press)

Vancouver, B.C., Nov. 9.—The city council has approved a draft of the proposed commission form of government. Amendments to the city charter to be made at the January session of the legislature the new system to come into force one year later. The amendments provide for four commissioners at a salary of $7,500 each and a mayor's salary of $10,000 next year being the last for the present aldermanic system. The council will apply for the necessary legislation to give themselves salaries of $1400 in place of the present $600.

"I am tired of hearing ourselves referred to as those pin heads working at the city hall for $833 a month," was the way one alderman expressed it.

MUST AUDIT HIS BOOKS IN FUTURE

ACCOUNTS OF ALBERTA SYNOD HAVE NOT BEEN PROVED IN PAST FOUR YEARS.

(Wes.ern Associated Press)

Calgary, Alta., Nov. 9.—The fact that the books of the Treasurer of the Alberta Synod had not been audited for four years caused a mild sensation at the meeting of the Synod yesterday, and led to a discussion which lasted all afternoon. Complaint had been made at end of third year and it was pointed out that further proceedings would be irregular and illegal. The treasurer had offered to have the audit completed in a few months and sent to each member. This was not done.

No suspicion was cast upon the treasurer but members insisted that the time had come when business had to be done on business principles. A committee was appointed to get action at once.

BLIZZARD IN SASKATCHEWAN.

Perdue, Sask., Nov. 9.—The first blizzard of the year is now on. The thermometer registers around zero, with a north wind. About 25 per cent of the threshing is yet to be done

RECORD BREAKING PRICE FOR JASPER AVE. REALTY

Heiminck Block, Jasper West, Sold to D. J. McNamara for $150,000, an Average of $2230 Per Foot Front—Has Frontage of 53 1-3 Ft. on Main Street

All previous records of high prices for Jasper avenue property were broken this morning, when the Heiminck block on Jasper west, between First and Second streets, was purchased by D. J. McNamara from Mrs. Isabelle Heiminck for $150,000. The property upon which the building stands has a frontage on Jasper of 53 1-3 feet, thus the purchase price figures out to $2830 per foot, a record hitherto unattained. The property extends back a full 150 feet from Jasper avenue.

The building on the property is a three-story brick structure, the ground floor of which is occupied by the real estate firm of York and McNamara and the Great West Permanent Loan company. The upper stories of the building are given over to office accommodation.

MISSIONARIES ARE REPORTED AS SAFE

COMMUNICATION BETWEEN HANKOW AND OUTSIDE WORLD DELAYED BY CUTTING OF WIRES.

(Western Associated Press.)

Toronto, Nov. 9.—Whilst allaying the anxiety of friends of the Canadian missionaries in West China a letter received by Rev. R. Burns, of Omemee, from his daughter, one of the Methodist missionaries in Ching Tu explains why communication with the outside world was so difficult. The letter, which is dated September 21st states that they could not get out telegrams from that city except by messengers to Chung King, and until recently, it was impossible to get messengers who would risk the undertaking, as they might be intercepted and robbed or killed. The missionaries states the writer, was ordered down the river but could not get away before the gates were shut. They are all safe and well, living within the fine missionary compound, most of them in the new hospital building, one hundred and twenty-six of them in all.

There were with the Methodist missionaries, in the compound, the missionaries of the China Inland, both from inside and outside the city, the Methodist Episcopal, and the Baptist missions. Four men, who sell tobacco in the city, and men teaching in the science and English departments of the Chinese University, all English speaking Chinese.

The telegraph wires were cut for 751 miles from the city. Bands of robbers and bandits were running wild, but no foreigners had suffered, though Mr. Manley, of the Methodist Episcopal mission had been attacked by a mob in the chapel. He escaped by knocking out part of the wall.

WINNIPEG WHEAT MARKET STRONG

COLD WEATHER REPORTS PROVE AN INCENTIVE TO BULLS IN PIT.

(Western Associated Press.)

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 9.—The local wheat market opened strong on bullish reports of heavy storms throughout the Prairie West with rain in Manitoba but cold weather and snow in Saskatchewan and Alberta. Twelve degrees below zero was registered last night at McMville, Sask. Pessimistic views of the situation seem justified by reports showing that in some sections of the country not half the threshing has been done, while an enormous amount of grain is still lying in the stook. Farmers who took time to shock are, of course, much better off, though the prolonged spell of wet and storm has done no good even there. Towards noon the market sagged again but it is in a very nervous condition.

STORM ON THE LAKES

(Western Associated Press.)

Kingston, Nov. 9.—Not in years has such a storm raged on the river and lake here as during the past twenty-four hours. The schooner Acadia, coal laden, from Oswego, was at Garden Islan dand dropped anchor, but the gale was so bad that she drifted. The pumps ha dt obe kept at work, but at an early hour this morning she was unable to move port. The crew say it was a terrible experience. They suffered a great deal from the cold, practically all navigation has been tied up for over thirty-six hours.

Gotch made short work of the local man, lifting him high in the air just after the referee called time and then when he had him on the mat, assumed the hammer lock on him and pinned him to the mat. Martland was forced to yell for mercy before he could get square on his back.

The trend of the discussion showed that this institution will in reality be the foundation for a theological college similar to those of London and Alberta. Regina was selected for the meeting of 1912.

The project to erect a boys' college at Moose Jaw was enthusiastically endorsed by a standing vote.

CHILDREN INJURED

ORDINARY CATHARTICS AND PILLS AND HARSH PHYSIC CAUSE DISTRESSING COMPLAINTS.

You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given, except in emergency cases. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are apt to do more harm than good. They may cause griping, nausea and other distressing after-effects that are frequently health-destroying.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as the safest and most dependable remedy, which we know, for constipation and associate bowel disorders. We have such absolute faith in the virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus over-coming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies commonly completely relieve constiuation, except of course when of a surgical character. They also tend to overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition. Three sizes of packages, 10 cents, 25 cents, and 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Edmonton, only at our store.—The Rexall Store. A. Archibald.

PLAN CANAL ACROSS FLORIDA.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 9.—The proposed canal across the state of Florida, which has been under discussion for many years, was brought one step nearer to becoming an accomplished fact today, when the board of army engineers appointed to determine the most feasible route met in this city to prepare its final report to the War Department. The Florida canal scheme is regarded as one of the most important of all inland waterway projects in this country. It would obviate the passage around the Florida keys of all ships between the Atlantic and the Gulf and would be valuable for naval and military purposes as well as for commercial use.

In Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is combined a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders, as well as act on the heart itself. Mrs. F. McFadyen, Brookside, Sask., writes:—"It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you stating the benefit I have received from using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This spring I was so run down I could not do any work, and one day a neighbor advised me to try your Pills. I told her that I thought nothing could cure me, as I was too far gone. But she told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did, and before I had finished them, I began to improve, and when I had finished the one box I was as strong and healthy as any person. A Sound Banking System

By Isidor Straus

Mr. Strus is the treasurer of the New York branch of the National Citizens' League for the Promotion of a Sound Banking System. The following article is a reply to James J. Hill's speech before the Illinois Bankers' Convention at Springfield, Ill., October 11.

If it is doubtful, as Mr. Hill states, that the National Reserve association can be kept free from control by politics on the one hand and from powerful combinations of capital on the other, then I say that it is the business of this nation to find a way and means.

In my opinion, there is no problem before the business interests and the citizens of this country today so important as the question of banking and currancy reform.

Mr. Hill says that the bankers themselves ought to originate and execute a scheme of reform. I contend that the matter of a good banking system is of more vital interest to the people at large—to merchants, manufacturers, farmers, laborers and all business and occupations. All should have a hand in it. If a plan has some good features let us accept these and eliminate or correct the doubtful ones. Only free discussion by all will accomplish this.

This country, with its wonderful resources, its tremendous developments, its men and brains, ought to be the credit exchange centre of the world. Instead, we have an archaic banking and currency system that is in disrepute abroad and that handicaps seriously our everyday prosperity and growth.

We are either stifled by a currency famine, as in 1907, or overburdened with a plethora of money, as today. A good banking system would relieve either situation—nothing else will.

In the last few weeks the Bank of Germany increased its loans and banknotes by $400,000,000 and decreased its cash by $60,000,000. If such a condition should be forced upon the banks of this country New York City would be almost instantly plunged into a panic so severe that business would be shaken to its foundations from one end of the country to another. We have no agency to prevent such a calastrophe. As it was, in Germany after three days business was norma again. Not a single failure happened.

All admit that such conditions as we witnessed in 1907, when it was impossible to drag money into circulation, with any kind of security and when, as a result, all businesses were stagnated and hundreds of thousands of men were thrown out of employment, must not occur again. We must act at once.

Personally and speaking for the National Citizens' League, I am glad of Mr. Hill's criticism. We welcome open discussion of every proposed scheme of reform—more than this, we plead for it.

The National Citizens' League recognizes that at present there is no plan but that all will be willing to accept. We stand committed to no plan. Like Mr. Hill—and this belief is unanimous—we believe in the basic principle of the National Reserve association, as proposed by the National Monetary commission.

We are organized to keep this problem out of politics, and to see that the final plan shall be absolutely free from dangerous control by ambitious financial interests.

Further than this we leave the matter open. And we want suggestions from all—from all businesses, all occupations, al sections—to the end that final plan adopted by congress shall reflect the democratic spirit and sound common sense of the nation.

Now is the time to discuss and perfect a plan, when the disastrous results of the panic of four years ago, the worst in our history, are still well remembered and still keenly felt by every business and by every one.

TERROR REIGNS IN HANKOW CITY

CONSULS IMPLORE IMPERIALISTS TO CEASE BURNING AND PILLOGING.

Hakow, Nov. 5 (via Wu Hu, Nov. 8)—The city of Hankow has been destroyed by fire in over two thirds of its extent. The lowest estimate of the loss is $50,000,000. Hundreds of half-burned bodies lie among the ruins. Many of them are bodies of women and children. The custom house and the American missions have been spared. The city has been looted, the Imperialists taking a hand in the pillage. The Imperialist officers tried to check this and executed a number of the soldiers. The refugees were deprived of their loot on entering the British concession, cart loads of furs, silks and jewelry being seized. It is suggested that the Red Cross receive the proceeds. Friday afternoon the consuls appealed to the Imperialists to cease burning the town.

The proclamation, which was issued immediately, declared that the rebels were responsible for the fires and ordered these to be checked. The following day new fires started in various quarters.

The David Hill memorial school for the blind, connected with the Wesleyan mission, was looted, while in contrast, all the mission property in Wu Chang which had been seized by the rebels has been protected.

Foreigners who had not an opportunity of witnessing the engagements, except at a distance, are hearing horrifying stories of the brutality. The Imperialists have hanged men, and failing to strangle them, tortured them to death. They prodded them with their bayonets or crushed them to death with stones. The outrages against the women cannot be told. The Red Cross bearers have been killed and wounded. Soldiers on both sides have slaughtered their wounded enemies.

The revolutionaries commandeered a British tug, which was proceeding up the river with two lighters of coal. It was suspected that the coal was destined for Admiral Sah's fleet. The British gunboat made a demand for the captured boats, which afterward were restored by the revolutionaries.

Will Attack Tien Tsin.

London, Nov. 9.—A dispatch from Tien Tsin says that the revolutionary this morning posted manifestos throughout the city declaring the intention of seizing Tien Tsin today. They called upon all symathizers to wear the white arm band of the revolutionary movement. The viceroy is still obstinate.

The French consul endeavored without success to persuade him to leave his Yamen which he has surrounded with his guards. It is feared that desperate fighting will occur at this point.

The latest advices from Pekin says the situation is quiet there. Refugees are still pouring out of the gates.

A cablegram form Niu Chawang, the chief port of Manchura predicts uprising in Mukden, shortly.

Anarchy at Chang Sha.

Chang Sha, province of Hu Nan, China, Nov. 9., via Shanghai, Nov. 9.—A condition bordering on anarchy exists here owing to desperate rivalry of revolutionary leaders, who took possession of city a few days ago—the two most prominent republican chieftains, General Schiao and Tseng, were both murdered by soldiers today.

They have been very jealous of each other's possessions, and their quarrel had been taken up h ytheir followers. In an effort to control the situation, Tan Tsuan, republican governor, had been proclaimed dictator, but he is a scholar and not a leader and is reported as anxious to escape the responsibility. His family has left Chang Sha and some of the members of the provincial cabinet, including the head of customes, and foreign minister have fled. Rioting and indiscriminate fighting are feared and the people are streaming to the country districts.

Foreign women and Chinese have ben ordered to leave Siang Tan, and a similiar order has been sent to Chang Tee. Other important cities in this province have joined the revolt, but in all of them the revolutionists are conducting the government peacefully.

Canton Independent.

Hong Kong, Nov. 9.—Canton, capital of Kwang Tung province, and the largest city in China, formally declared its independence at noon today, when the dragoon flag was lowered and a salute in honor of the new government was fired.

ernment under which the city should be administered, it is altogether too early to make any more than a brief outline of what I think should be done," said Mr. Magrath. "I am willing to candidly admit that I have never given the matter any very deep study, but I am of an open mind and I think it must be apparent to even the most disinterested observer that the incidents of last summer indicate that there is something radically wrong with our system. I do not care to open up the questions of the rights or wrongs of the controversy between Mr. Bouillon and the city council, for these at this time are altogether immaterial, but I do say that a charter which permits the city to get into such a tangle must certainly be in need of improvement. Without claiming to be thoroughly posted on the matter I am inclined to think that a commission form of government such as is being adopted in so many cities in the United States and is now being adopted in Vancouver would suit our needs better than the system we have now. I will say at leas' this, that the citizens should have an opportunity to adopt commission government if they consider it wise to do so, and to this end I will undertake, so far as it is within my power, if elected, to have the legislature incorporate in the municipal act, or in some other way place at the disposal of the citizens, an optional commission charter containing the recall, the initiative and the referendum, which, upon a vote of the ratepayers, might be made applicable to Edmonton, or to any other city in Alberta.

On the gas question Mr. Magrath says that he is for municipal ownership, and quick construction. "There has been altogether too much time wasted already on this and many other things. What we want in Edmonton is something doing in the immediate future. If we need gas, let us have it at once."

"But above all these," says Mr. Magrath, "I think we want a little more application of business principles in the handling of the city's business. We are now an immense institution here in Edmonton, one of the largest employers of labor in the Dominion and handling enormous sums of money. Yet we are doing business in almost identically the same way that we were seven or eight years ago when we were less than ten thousand people. No corporation would atempt to do this, and why should the city?

"I am also a very firm believer in a fair living wage for municipal employees. Here in the west a great many people are making money every day. The country is prosperous and the workingmen should be given an opportunity to share in the prosperity by receiving wages which are at least consistent with the cost of living in Edmonton. On this point I think that the city authorities have been very lax, if no altogether indifferent and for my part I do not consider it even honesty, not to say justice."

"I am not giving this interview as a platform," said Mr. Magrath. "My platform will be published in due course, setting out very clearly my ideas on many other things besides those mentioned, including the water problem, the city hall problem, the Tenants' franchise, a systematic plan of street railway extension, a systematic plan for the extension of the municipalities, etc., etc.,"

"All that I have to say at the present time is that I am a candidate and that these are a few of my ideas of what is needed in the city of Edmonton. As the election is not likely to be held until sometime in January there should be plenty of time to discuss the municipal questions between now and then. But I think it due to my friends who have asked me to run that I make it plain that I am prepared to accept the responsibility of becoming a candidate."

Mr. Magrath left this morning on the G.T.P. for the east, intending to visit Chicago, Toronto and several other of the larger cities of the east. While here he will take advantage of every opportunity to study municipal affairs here and gather whatever ideas he can on municipal government and municipal administration.

Kentucky was the first State to give women the right to vote. In 1838 that State gave the school suffrage to widows with children of school age. Kansas was the first State to grant the school suffrage to all women, and Wyoming the first State to give the full suffrage to women.

EXHIBITS PROVE VERY ATTRACTIVE

DISPLAYS SHOWING WHAT CAN BE GROWN IN CANADA ATTRACT IMMIGRANTS

In the opinion of Louis Ken, of the immigration department of the Grand Trunk Pacific at Winnipeg, who was in Edmonton yesterday on his way to Fitzhugh, the Dominion government and the various lines of Canadian railways have found the best possible means of demonstrating the advantages of Canada in European countries and are doing a good educational work by maintaining Canadian exhibits at the larger fairs and exhibitions held each year in various European centres. Mr. Kon, who is a Russian by birth was himself influenced to come to this country five years ago, by an exhibit of Canadian products which he saw at an exhibition in Switzerland. Before that time his opinion of the Dominion was somewhat vague.

"The impression I formed of Canada while at the university in Russia, was that of a buffalo ridden wilderness," said Mr. Kon, to a Capital representative yesterday afternoon. "It was an impression which came from reading stories of the "Wild West," that had been translated into Russian. They were eagerly read by the university students and were great tales of adventure, we thought, but they were about as far from the real truth as to present day conditions in the west as myth ng could be. Until the Dominion government and Canadian railway exhibits began to appear in European centres, however, such stories as these contained the only available information about the country, but the impression they created is now being rapidly dispelled thanks to the efforts of the men in charge of the Canadian publicity work in Europe."

Mr. Kon had charge of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway's exhibit at Brussels last year and since that time has been actively engaged in immigration work for the company. He said that the Canadian exhibits at Brussels attracted widespread attention among prespective emigrants to Canada and undoubtedly will be responsible for a heavy movement in this direction.

Mr. Kon believes that there is a great future summer resort in store for Jasper park, on the line of the C.P.R. and C.N.R., through the Yellowhead pass. He has visited all the scenic resorts of the Alps and declared yesterday that the beauties of the mountains in Switzerland cannot compare with those of the Canadian Rockies.

He expressed the opinion that the Canadian Rockies soon would become the mecca of artists who excell in mountain scenery work.

ALASKAN SMUGGLER IS ROBBED OF FURS

Was Trying to Smuggle Them Through as Codfish and Real Article Is Substituted

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 9.—A good story is going the rounds at the expense of an Alaskan who endeavored to get a shipment of six casks of contraband sealskins from Southwestern Alaska to Victoria recently. The law of the United States is that sealskins cannot be taken by United States citizens other than those fortunate enough to the rookeries until the beginning of May last, in fact none others than these belong to the company which leased and Indians are permitted to take sealskins; but despite the law it is a well-known fact that fur buyers who journey along the Alaska coast can secure sealskins and one of these recently picked some up.

He had the sealskins delivered to him, without flourish of trumpets, at Kodiak, and then he sat down to ponder on the proposition of getting them out of the country. He happened at this time to see a shipment of codfish ready for exportation on the steamer Dora, loaded in the same sort of sacks Accordingly he labeled his shipments "codfish," and ordered delivery of them to him at Seattle.

Gleefully he then hied himself to Victoria and arranged to sell the skins in this city when trans-ported from Seattle.

The frame of mind of the young man may be imagined when at Seattle, six casks of genuine codfish were delivered to him. He kicked, but he couldn't kick hard. He had received what the manifest called for, all right Since then he has been hiring levies of 'longshoremen to kick him for having talked too much while in Kodiak.

PREPARE APPEAL IN A.G.W. CASE

WILL BE HEARD BY THE APPEAL COURT IN MARCH OF NEXT YEAR

Solicitors for the Alberta and Great Waterways railway and Canada Construction company and the Royal bank are preparing the appeal against the decision of Mr. Justice Stuart in the action brought by the province to obtain control of some $6,000,000 of the proceeds of the sale of the bonds of the Waterways railway. The appeal to the supreme court of Alberta en banc must be filled within thirty days of November 4, when Mr. Justice Stuart handed down his award at Calgary.

Sittings of the Alberta court of appeals open in March of next year. The Waterways appeal will then come up for argument, and it will in all probably be late in the summer before the decision is handed down. From the Alberta court appear will be made direct to the privy council of the empire, with whom the final decision will rest. It will not be brought before the supreme court of Canada. At the earliest date, the suit may be adjudicated on by the privy council in the later months of 1913. On the other hand, the case may not be disposed of until a considerably later date.

JAPANESE RED CROSS WORKERS FOR HANKOW

Are Given Permission to Go to China by War Office—Anxiety Is Felt in Tokio

Tokio, Nov. 9.—The Japanese war office today gave permission for a special corps of Japanese red cross workers to go to Hankow, China. They will start next Sunday.

Some uneasiness is felt here over reports of the concerted attitude of the United States and Germany towards the Chinese situation. The Niesi Nichi, however, says that it has reason to believe that the apprehension is wholly unfounded and that Washington's friendship for Japan is unwavering.

The situation is China of a house divided against itself is causing grave anxiety here. Many doubt the capacity of Premier Saion's cabinet to cope with the delicate position in which the revolution in China places Japan.

The ministry is now confronted with the difficulty of adjusting the financial program to the naval demands. The uncompromising attitude of the minister of the navy, Vice Admiral Saito, may precipitate the collapse of the government.

ANNUAL MEETING OF W.H.M. SOCIETY

SEVERAL VERY INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE PAPERS READ—WORK BY THE YEAR

The fifth annual meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Presbyterian society was held in Knox Presbyterian church, Strathcona, on Wednesday, November 3.

Morning session began at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Ewing, president, in chair. Delegates were present from Vegreville, Sturgeon, Coronation, Belmont, Robertson, Erkine, Westminster First churches, Edmonton, Leduc, Fort Saskatchewan, Winterburn, Agricola and Strathcona, and the reports read were very encouraging, telling of increased membership, interest and contributions.

The afternoon session began at 8 o'clock with about 180 ladies present. After devotional exercises and reading of the minutes, Mrs. (Prof.) Miller, gave an address of welcome expressing the most cordial greetings on the occasion of our first meeting in Strathcona, and felt it was opportune just now at the opening of the New college, which was of such great importance to Home Missions.

President's address which was both earnest and hopeful, urging more faithful work, and pointing out the good we received when working for the good of others.

Mrs. McQueen read a most inspiring message from our beloved missionary, Mrs. Forbes, telling of the work being done there and reported the organization of a W. H. M. society in Grand Rapids. "The McQueen Auxiliary," with a membership of eleven, also the opening in September of the first President church in Grand Prairie, both of which are a great [illegible] the people. As it is only about twenty months since Rev. and Mrs. Forbes left for that country, we can surely feel that the work to be done is being done most effectually by them.

A very fine paper by Miss Sutherland of a Country Auxiliary was then read by the president of their auxiliary, Miss Sutherland, unfortunately not being able to be present. It was full of suggestions to others, in showing results of the methods adopted in their society.

Mrs. Myers, who attended the annual meeting gave a report which was brimming over with interesting and helpfull items and impressions. A solo was then given by Madame Cauchon, and was beautifully rendered.

Mrs. Dyde adressed the meeting on "suggestions for Helping ur Work," and was listened to most attentively. The many good plans and ideas set before them will be beneficial in the future.

Mrs. Stuart of Lindsay, Ont., a visitor in the city, then gave a bright address, expressing pleasure at finding the Western women grasping the situation of the time so well, and was pleased to bring information from us to the eastern women, who desire much information possessed by us at first hand.

Mrs. Fortune then spoke on the Deaconess work in our church. We have first at work at important points, also our church is providing strangers' secretaries, who will look after the welfare of women and girls, as travellers from the social and moral standpoint. The meeting was then closed by prayer.

The evening meeting opened with Prof. Miller in the chair. After devotional exercises by Dd. McQueen, the meeting was addressed by missionaries from the field.

Mr. Dyde, from Rich Valley, spoke of the extent of the field, and the need for more men to do the work as it was impossible for one man to do effective work.

Mr. Carr, from Grassy lake, Southern Alberta, was from a more thickly settled community, who welcomed the missionary and the church service, and Mr. Falmer of British Columbia, lamented the indifference of the people where he had been, laying the cause partially as the want of early missionaries.

Rev. Mr. Matheson of Namao gave an excellent address on the need of men for the work. He regarded our new president college as a step towards solution of difficulty, and urged H. M. Mothers to see that the matter began in the homes.

Madame Couchon, Miss McGrimmon and a quartett from Norwood church rendered excellent music during the evening.

NOTHING BUT A FLAG

The Manchu garrison of Foo Chow, fearing the capture of their city by the Mongol hordes, so the dispatches say, comes pleading to the British consul that they be given refuge within the consulate walls in the hour when the wild saturnalia of slaughter follows the fall of the Tartar standard.

It is only a little dispatch; so small, in fact, as to be lost in the reams and columns of matter which go to make up the news of a daily paper; counted by the news agencies so little out of the ordinary as to be worthy of but the scantiest mention.

Yet what a world of meaning is crowded into this little story: What an inspiration it lends in arriving at a true appreciation of the respect in which British institutions are held even in the darkest corners of these foreign fields.

What a picture! Here we have the soldiers of the imperial army of China, the representatives at arms of a government controlling four hundred inert millions of human beings, the first line of defence of a heartless and villainous oligarchy which has ground down with an implacable hand its defenceless people for four hundred years. Armed, trained, equipped for war from the unstinted treasures of a great, though sleeping, nation, they stood behind the fortress at their city's gates charged with the duty of protecting the people of their own blood from the ravages of the revolutionaries.

Out beyond the walls the fires of insurrection blaze. From the slumber of centuries China has awakened to resent the tyranny of the usurper. The country is drenched in blood. To the Manchu trooper comes the knowledge that for him there is no hope. Rumors of revolutionary successes up the river are to him as harbingers of death. If he be brave and loyal to the dynasty from which he has drawn his rations he may have the privilege of meeting his fate with his back to the wall, his face to the foe. But die he must. The cordon of rebellion closes in. His finish is in sight. It is written in the stars.

Here is a situation to test the fibre of the bravest of the world's brave. Were they Britons they would fall into line, grim, resolute, resigned; their women and children gathered behind their strongest positions, prepared to fight to the end, to meet the finish in the very last ditch, defeated only in death, but never conquered.

Not so the cowardly Manchu soldiery. Panic seizes them. They think only of a refuge from the wrath to come. Let the city fall, let the carnival of rapine and slaughter, of lust and blood and crime go forward, let the women and children die, defenceless and undefended, let the flood-gates of hell open for the non-combatants, but the Manchu soldiery seek only a chance to save their own lives.

And where in that wild whirlwind of wrath and revolution do they see the oasis of security?

In the British consulate. Once behind those gates and they are safe. Gladly would they cast away their arms as they enter, if they could but enjoy the privilege of an unarmed refuge within. Well they know that no matter what scenes of slaughter may be enacted in the streets, the consulate is safe from the ruthlessness of the rebel hordes. And so they come to the consul pleading admission that they may emerge alive when the storm subsides. This one spot they know the most ignorant of the revolutionaries in their wildest moments will respect.

No arms, no ammunition, no soldiers, no fortifications bristling with guns, no preparation to resist an assault.

Nothing but a flag.

INGLIS PUMP NOT DOING ITS DUTY

COMPANY HAS BEEN ADVISED AS TO INEFFICIENCY OF MACHINE—MUST MAKE GOOD.

Due to the freeze-up, water in the Saskatchewan has raised considerable with the result that the intakes to the turbine, electrically driven pump, was partly out of water. The rise of the stream has caused this situation to be alleviated. At this time the electric pump is being overhauled. Several days will be occupied in this work New propellors for this pump ordered many weeks ago, have not yet arrived as they come from across the pond.

The big Inglis pump rated at six million is not doing anything near that, results delivered being consistent with the estimate of efficiency maintained by Superintendent Huffman of the power plant. Although the city is using between three and four million gallons daily, and the power house superintendent claims the Inglis pump is in just as good condition as expert mechanics can put it, the machine is failing to do anything near what the manufacturers claim for it. The old Inglis pump in the old pumping plant is operated at a leisurely gait to assist in keeping up the pressure in the water mains.

At this time the powerhouse superintendent is figuratively astride the neck of the John Inglis company, relative to the pump and the claim they make that the machine will do all they have claimed for it. He has pointed out to them in black and white, numerous shortcomings of the pump and requested that they demonstrate the alleged efficiency of the pump, which has been branded by the superintendent as a "lemon."

LACK OF FITTINGS DELAYS ELECTION

UNTIL SUPPLIES ARRIVE NEW GENERATOR CANNOT BE PLACED IN OPERATION

Work of installation of the 2,000 kilowatt turbine electric generator at the power house is held up at this time because of a lack of steam fixtures and pipe line. For a week nothing has been done toward this work and one of the men sent here by the company to install the machine has left Edmonton to go onto another job. This is the erection handling the electrical end of the job. He can do nothing until the man handling the steam turbine has finished his work, hence his presence at this time is not necessary. The individual is on the job waiting for the arrival of the steam fittings. The new turbine generator is in place and when the steam line is brought to it ten days or a fortnight will suffice to put it in running order. Several days will have to be occupied in "drying out" the generator and making adjustments. There is likewise yet to arrive an exciter set, apparatus used to increase the current, and a condenser necessary has not yet arrived. When the new machine will be operated is merely a question when the desired supplies and parts get here. The machine came from Pittsburg, Pa. where it was manufactured.

When the new machine is operated the city will be supplied with a superabundance of power. There will be afforded at the power house 4,700 kilowatts. At the present time the power supplied is barely ample to supply the demand and this winter promises to be very little different from past experiences during twinter months.

With the operation of the new turbine alternating current sufficient to supply the city this year and tide over next winter nicely. However some new machinery will have to be purchased next year to supply current for the street railway system.

LIGHT DISTRICT COURT DOCKET

Strathcona, Nov. 9.—An unusually short list of cases awaits Judge Taylor at the sitting of the district court in this city today. The number of small and large debt cases down for hearing in the majority of sittings here have been rather extensive but today's roster shows only three complaints for the consideration of the court. These cases are:

Maud Baird vs. A. L. Brick; N. D. Mills for the plaintiff; Rutherford, Jameson and Grant, for defendant.

Wm. Wenser vs. J. N. Eaton, N. D. Mills for the plaintiff and J. R. Lavell for the defendant.

Seamen vs. Reid. Rutherford, Jamieson and Grant for plaintiff; Emery, Newell and Bolton, for the defendant.

SHOULD BE CAREFUL IN RINGING ALARM

Fire Department, in Number of Cases, Are Sent on Runs Which Are Far From Justified.

Strathcona, Nov. 9.—A timely word of caution is forthcoming from chairman V. T. Richards of the fire and light committee regarding the thoughtless ringing in of alarms for the fire brigade when there is little or no occasion for a call. Many of these summons have been rung in lately where there was little reason for uneasiness on the part of the house-holders, says Alderman Richards, and that this state of affairs should not continue he wishes to urge upon citizens as a duty. On Monday for instance there were two long runs given the brigade to the west end and the last one was especially uncalled for. The burning of an old log building located some distance from any other structure should not require a jaunt to the university grounds by the teams, but this is what resulted from the ringing in of an absurd alarm at a time when the deserted old shack was hopelessly ablaze, probably from an incendiary cause. Besides being exceedingly wearing on the teams and vehicles Alderman Richards points out that the main portions of the city stand in jeopardy while the brigade is absent on such long and unnecessary runs.

PRESBYTERY APPROVES

Wetaskiwin Pastor is Requested to Take Up Work of Knox Church Strathcona.

Strathcona, Nov. 9.—At the meeting of the Edmonton Presbytery this week the call from the congregation of Knox church in this city to the Rev. McGougan of Wetaskiwin was fully endorsed. In preesnting this call to the Presbytery Rev. Millar, formerly pastor of Knox church, spoke in high terms of the brilliant college career of Rev. McGaugan and he had no hesitation in declaring that the choice of Knox church would in all probability be appreciated very shortly as a popular one. The call was unanimously endorsed by the Presbytery in Edmonton after which it was forwarded to the Presbytery at Lacombe under whose jurisdiction Rev. McGougan is a worker. If acceptable to this body the call will very shortly be in the hands of the Wetaskiwin pastor. That he will accept the invitation to Strathcona is practically assured. It is hoped that Rev. McGougan will reach this city in time to participate in the anniversary services of Knox church on November 24th.

FARMERS ARE VERY WELL SATISFIED

THRESHING LATE IN CLOVER BAR DISTRICT BUT YIELD IS ABOVE AVERAGE.

Strathcona, Nov. 9.—While some portions of this district have unquestionably been caught by this sudden attack of winter, somewhat unprepared for a cold snap on the whole the surrounding farming communities had most of the grain in stack previous to the snow storm this week, and a small proportion have the year's threshing over. The late fall made harvest operation none too pleasant but the crops were handled fairly successfully in spite of unfavorable weather conditions. In comparison with some of the sections in southern Alberta, where one week ago, thousands of acres were still in the stock, this portion of the province is in a good position as regards the corp.

Threshing will probably be later than the average, notwithstanding the fact that every availbale machine is operating to its full capacity. Reports form practically every portion of the district from a radius of thirty miles indicate about an average yield in the standard grains. Perhaps the best crops are to be found in the Clover Bar country, where the harvest was as early as the weather permitted. One threshing which has been running in that locality for two or three weeks has found a good average crop and in some places a yield approaching the bumper class. No oats have been threshed which fell below an average of fifty-eight bushels to the acre, and the yield has in some instances gone as high as ninety-one, machine measure. This gives a yield of over one hundred bushels per acre in standard weight. The wheat and barley crops are also fairly good although the acreage to be threshed is below that of some of the former years owing to the inferior harvesting conditions. With the exception of a small proportion of green feed the grain was all safely in the stack before the first snow came this week.

H. S. Suthon, a prominent attorney of New Orleans and for a number of years superintendent of the United States mint in that city, is the Republican choice for governor of Louisiana.

NEGRO FIRES, BUT SHOT GOES WILD

POLICE ARE NOW SEARCHING FOR COLORED MAN ON ATTEMPTED MURDER CHARGE.

Walking into a boarding house and restaurant situated at 313 Queens avenue, about 11:30 this morning, C. Johnson, a negro, presented a revolver at the head of the proprietor, M. C. Harston, also colored, backed him into a side room and fired a shot at him, which fortunately missed, the bullet cleaving a hole through the woodwork. Johnson then struck Marston over the head with the butt end of the gun. Up to the time of going to press Johnson had not been arrested, but Detective Seymour is on his trail and will probably land him within a few hours.

Interviewed at the restaurant this morning, Mr. Harston gave a graphic description of the shooting. He first explained that he kept Johnson as a boarder for some five weeks at the time of the fair, and as he did not pay any money he, perforce, had to ask him to quit. He did not see Johnson again until this morning, when he walked into the restaurant. Harston was at that time cutting some felt and did not pay much attention, but Johnson presented the gun, a 38 Smith and Weston, and said: "You have been talking about me." Harston replied: "Don't shoot me, I was your best freind when you were down and out, didn't I keep you for five weeks for nothing?"

"But you've been talking about me," said Johnson and without more ado he pulled the trigger. At the time Johnson entered he had a friend with him named Dic Battles, who stood by and saw all that happened. Harston called to Battle not to let Johnson shoot him but Battle offered no assistance. Harston grappled with Johnson and Battles lent some tardy assistance, taking the gun away from Johnson. The two men then went out and as soon as possible Harston went to the police station for assistance.

WINDSOR PROPRIETOR SUDDENLY CALLED

Strathcona, Nov. 9.—Walter Young Marton, proprietor of the Windsor hotel, died last evening in the hospital of pneumonia. Mr. Marton leaves a wife and one little boy to mourn his loss. Deceased purchased the Windsor hotel some six months ago, coming to this city from London, Ontario. Edmonton Masons will have charge of the funeral arrangements on Friday, when the body will be shipped to the former home of the deceased for interment.

HEAVY SNOWFALL IN SASKATCHEWAN

Prince Albert, Sask., Nov. 9.—A heavy snow storm began last night and continued all day today. It was accompanied by wind but did not assume the proportions of a blizzard. The Saskatchewan river is now frozen over. About thirty percent of the crop is still unthreshed.

W. W Morton, president of the board of trade today announced his candidature for the mayorship.

Mrs. Hector Cowan, 414 Eighth street, will receive on Friday, November 10th.

HUDSON'S BAY CO. WANTS IMPROVEMENTS

Request Commissioners to Authorize Number of Local Improvements In Reserve.

Coincident with the subdividing their reserve, which occupies considerable of the choice unimproved realty of the city of Edmonton, the Hudson's bay company have permitted the city commissioners for considerable street improvement to be done in the reserve. A petition for these street improvements was before the city commissioners this morning and constitutes the following:

Sidewalk on Portage avenue; pave Portage avenue, from First to Twenty-first street; grade Kingsway avenue, being that street running, from the southwest to the northeast corner of the H.B.R.; sidewalk on Norwood, from First to Twenty-first; grade Norwood from First to Twenty-first; sidewalk on First from Churchill to Norwood; pave First from Churchill to Norwood; sidewalk on First from Norwood to Alberta; pave First from Norwood to Alberta.

As yet the subdivision plats and the survey of the H.B.R. have not been filed. The filing is only a matter of detail, however. The commissioners this morning recommend to the city council that the work petitioned for be done. Just when the improvements will be made is a question. As yet there are no improvements upon much of the property, asked to be improved and such things are taken into consideration by the board of commissioners before actually undertaking any work.

CONTRACTORS WILL RECEIVE $550.50

CITY OF EDMONTON GOES INTO COURT AND LOSES ANOTHER LAW SUIT

A dispute between the city and William Fawcett, who carried out the programme of concrete sidewalk and crossing construction in 1906, was aired in the supreme court before Chief Justice Harvey this morning and at the conclusion of the trial, judgment was given against the municipality for $550.50, the balance due upon Mr. Fawcett's contract completed five years ago.

Fawcett's tender was accepted by the council of 1906 on May 9, the price of the work being $1.90 per square yard for sidewalks and $2.20 for crossings. According to the terms of the contract the city was to retain 5 per cent. of the monies to be paid to Fawcett for a period of twelve months after the completion of the work, as a guarantee of quality of workmanship and materials, paying interest upon the withheld balance at the rate of 5 per cent. On October 12, 1906, the sidewalk and crossing construction was complete, the plaintiff becoming entitled to the sum of $ 5,280.47 for the season's work. From this was deducted $11,559.56 for cement supplied by the city, leaving a balance to be paid to Fawcett of $13,729.91.

The sum of $13,034.86 was paid, the city retaining $686.05 in accordence with the terms of the contract.

Negligence of the city in making water connections, in allowing block pavement to remain on the sidewalks and permiting the destruction of some 100 feet of gutter torn out by a road roller when ran amuck, are alleged to have necessitated certain repairs in 1907, and these Fawcett carried out at the request of the city authorities, becoming entitled at the end of the year to a total sum of $982.56. The city declined to pay, and Fawcett immediately entered action in the supreme court.

Several city officials were placed on the stand yesterday to give evidence in behalf of the defendants.

NO 'PHONES FOR DELTON UNTIL '12

RIVERDALE WANTS MORE LIGHT—CITY BUYS PROPERTY—LET STREET CAR ADVERTIS'G

Delton and properties north of Alberta avenue may not have the luxuries of telephones this winter. Next year, maybe, this modern necessity will be afforded if the plans of the telephone department do not go askew. Resulting from a petition from Delton asking for telephone service, the department reported to the city commissioners this morning that they could not supply the demand this fall because of the excessive demand in Norwood requiring all the present supply of cables. Provisions for serving north of Alberta avenue next year are contemplated, according to the report.

More light at Beatrice and Arlington streets, Riverdale, is wanted according to a petition from a dozen citizens who petitioned the commissioners for an arc light at the street crossing mentioned. The petition was referred to the lighting department with power to act.

Old Deal Consumated.

For the sum of $1,500 the city this morning practically purchased three lots designated as Nos. 1., 2 and 3, of block B, River Lot 14. Several years ago the city was negotiating for property at that point and agreed to buy the lots in question. Because of a mortgage a clear title could not be given at that time and now, several years later, these same lots appear with a clear title asking to be taken over by the city, and the deal consumated. J. R. Roberts, owns the lots in question. The commissioners this morning ordered the purchase.

Help Out Deficit.

The deficit in the street car account will be held about $1,000 worth next year by a lease of space for advertising purposes. Upon recommendation of the city commissioners, the street railway superintendent this morning recommended that the tender of John Dewar offering $13 per car per month for the advertising space be accepted. It was so ordered.

Lessee is to provide a bond equal to three month's lease and is to pay each month in advance.

It is probable that the expenditure of the health department for the year just closed will exceed the estimates by a considerable margin. Prevalence of scarlet fever during the year, causing an increase in the expenses of maintaining quarantine and disinfecting private houses, are largely responsible for the high total of the years expenditure in the department.

ALLENDALE

Five Good Reasons Why You Should Buy

ALLENDALE

And There are Many Others

(1) Allendale is only ten minutes' walk from Whyte Avenue. You don't have to take a long trip to find it.

(2) As soon as the High-Level Bridge is completed Allendale will advance in price. The bridge will be finished early in the Spring.

(3) You have two Railroads, C. N. R. and C. P. R.; Phone, Sidewalks, Sewerage and three main thoroughfares. Main street, which runs right through the centre, is 80 feet wide, sewerage already put in and the car line, which is partly completed, will be extended next year. All these things go to make a sure and profitable investment.

(4) All the Lots are High, Dry and Level; beautifully situated overlooking the city.

(5) Our terms are the easiest in the city. All you have to do is to pay $10.00 cash. The property is then yours, and all you pay after is $5.00 per month.

Think these five facts over carefully and you will realize what a fine speculation this is.

Trackage Advantages of

ALLENDALE

EVERYONE knows that property adjoining the Railroad is a good buy. It is absolutely necessary for factories, wholesale houses and manufacturers (no matter what their business) to be right on the Railway. This is the great source of distribution. Now, then, you have here the two most important railroads, the C. P. R. and C. N. R., running right through our property. You have the opportunity to secure these lots at lower prices and better terms than you pay for outside property. Come and see us, we would like to talk this over with you

If you cannot spare the time to call on us let us call on you. Just phone us up 2145 or 2903 and we will be right there.

Have your own house and don't pay rent. All you have to do is to pay your first installment of $10.00. You are then the owner of this lot and can waste no time in putting up your own home. You can afterwards sell both lot and house at your own price and

JAPANESE TO ENTER WORLD'S BIG MEET

New York, Nov. 8.—Japan is to be represented by a track and field team at the Olympic games next year and a move is now under way to find out the best men for each event. What stirred the Japanese was the announcement recently that China would send a team, and the former nation is not going to be outdone in the matter of progress by any of its Orient-al neighbors when it comes to something modern. Some time ago, when Secretary Kristian Bellstrom of the Swedish Olympic committee sent the invitation to the Japs, they did not exactly know what to make of it, but Mr. Kano, who is president of the higher normal schools of Japan, explained the idea to the government. Accordingly, the higher officials have decided that Japan will send a team to Stockholm and those interested in athletic sport in Tokio and other big cities have been notified to keep a line on the best men in each locality. A committee, composed of Kano, Soe Ace and Hiroo Onuki, has been formed, and they are going to make a careful record of the best performances of the contestants in each event in the country. It is said that the most proficient athletes are in the high schools, as they have been trained under modern methods and it is very likely that the team will be made up with contestants of this class.

It has been hinted to hold a series of tryouts before December 1, and if a good string can be unearthed they spring, when there will be another tryout. In the meantime if others should show any form they will be looked by the committee. A report has it that the runners and sprinters are little more than mediocre, but that there are some cracks for the javelin and the broad and high jumps. The Japanese pole vaulters can break the world's record and minute, but when these style will be allowed at Stockholm is another consideration. They climb the pole, that is, they pioneer up hand over hand, and this may not be tolerated by the Swedish judges. If the climbing is allowed, the rest of the world may as well whistle at the places, for there are several who can beat fifteen feet under ordinary conditions, while much higher vaults are unofficially rumored. Since the idea of mastering the team has become known it has met with favor at favor in Japan. When the games were held in London three years ago several Japanese were present, and when they went home they gave vent to their notions that the Asiatics were away behind the times in the matter of amateur sport. The meet at London was a revelation to the way men from the East, and they said that as long as Japan was fast becoming modern in everything, they might as well take on amateur athletics in a broad sense. Track and field sport has been carried on in Japan in the colleges and schools for a number of years, but only on a small scale.

NORWOOD PUBLIC SCHOOL CHAMPIONS

DEFEAT TAYLOR IN FINAL GAME OF THE FOOTBALL SERIES.

In the final game of the public school football series, played yesterday in a snowstorm, on account of the inability of either team to score after playing twenty minutes' overtime in the last scheduled game, which took place last week, the Norwood school, which already held the championship in athletics and in basketball, added the football championship to its already formidable list by defeating its closest rival in all contests, the Alexander Taylor school by 1 goal to 0. The latter now aims to show Norwood and others how to play hockey, but to show that they know how to accord defeat gracefully they are entertaining the Norwood football and basketball teams at a sleighing party on Friday evening.

CANDID COMMENTS

(By Grad.)

The pros and cons of semi pro and pro hockey for Edmonton is still the principal pool room and street corner topic of conversation and it must be a warm subject when fans will stand in the chilly blasts that have overtaken us and talk it over.

I personally would like to see a professional hockey team in Edmonton, not a semi professional team, for there can be no half ways about it, it must be all or none. There is no such thing as a semi pro. If a man receives so much as a nickel or a bag of peanuts for appearing on the ice then that man is technically a pro. All this talk of being semi professional is bunkum.

There are many arguments for professional hockey. In the first place the spectator gets better quality. In the second place the manager of a team knows where he is at. In an amateur team on a practice night if John Willie wants to go and see his best girl and he passes the practice, he goes and no one can say him nay, especially if he is a good man, for the team does not want to lose him and they will put up with the loss.

In a professional team it is different. A man is honest enough to come forward and declare that he cannot afford to play for the love of the game and he will adopt it as his profession. He receives payment and has to give value for money received, or if it is Johnny Walker for his. There is none of this pro-amateur business where a man hands a ten dollar bill in his sock after the game and calls it in his dup and looks wise. This is the first step on the road to losing self respect.

However there will be no pro hockey in this city this season, principally because there is not a rink big enough to accommodate a crowd that would pay expenses and leave a little margin. But look out next year. It is oftentimes rash to assume the mantle of a prophet but I would like to bet three peanuts that Edmonton has a first class professional hockey team in full swing next season.

The sports writer on the Calgary Albertan in yesterday's issue uses considerable space to comment on the fact that the Edmonton papers did not break the news gently enough that Calgary had it on us last Saturday. I would remark for that gentleman's satisfaction that the bunch up here are sports and know how to lose, when they lose fairly and squarely like they did last Saturday they are the first to admit it and congratulate the winners. The manufacturing of excuses is left to Calgary where they seem to be experts at that particular line.

The same gentleman also refers to a man he calls "Mr. Yale Ford" and refers to various comments made by what he calls the "Capital Joker." If our Calgary contemporary could only realize what a sore subject "Yale" is in these parts he would forget it.

Come back to the burning hockey question, the talk all seems to be that the Calgary St. Mary's are going to be the fire-eaters this season, but take it from your Uncle Dudley that there is a team in formation in Calgary just now that has them all beat. Don't you worry, Calgary will spring something pretty soon now.

Another little point: The hockey teams around these parts will stick to the seven men aside game. Those that know say that six men aside is only a dodge on the part of those in pursuit of the coin to reduce expenses. May be, may be not—but probably may be.

The prospects for a good bowling season appear very bright. In addition to the Olympic league, which will make its schedule tonight, the Y. M. C. A. have a six-team league and the Newspapermen are organizing a four-team league, so that the few alleys that we have in these cold parts will be kept pretty busy.

ENGLISH TRACK TEAM COMING

New York, Nov. 9.—It is announced here that Oxford and Cambridge Universities are planning to send a track team to this country next summer for an international match with Yale and Harvard. Letters from President Baker, of the Cambridge University Athletic club, indicate that the Englishmen want to come early in June so that they can be home in time for the Olympic games at Stockholm.

GOOD BASKETBALL GAMES AT Y.M.C.A.

KOLTS RUNAWAY VICTORY OVER DORMATS—WANDERERS BEAT KEYSTONES IN CLOSE GAME

Some good class basketball was shown at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium last night, when two matches in the basketball league were played off.

The Kolts, who have developed into a pretty swift aggregation, romped around the Dormats to the tune of 34 baskets to 9. The line-up was as follows:

Kolts		Dormats
Engler	C.	Watt
Butchart	R. F.	Dunham
Gerrie	L.F.	Gown
Britton	R. D.	Clark
Bill	L.D.	Hudson

Referee and Umpire, P. Brockel.

A somewhat more even game was played by the Keystones and Wanderers, the latter finally winning out by a score of 21 baskets to 16. The line-up was as follows:

Keystones		Wanderers
Scott	C.	Freeman
Miller	R. F.	Cormack
Paradis	L.F	Duncan
O'Connor	R. D.	Peck
Agar	L. D.	Graydon

Referee, Brockel; Umpire, Britton.

WITH THE BOXERS

Dave Deshlier and Kid Mercier have signed to box in Lawrence, Mass., Nov. 9.

"Harlem" Tommy Murphy, who was supposed to be quite wealthy, is said to be broke.

The New York State Boxing Commission has refused to allow moving pictures to be taken of boxing bouts.

Patsy Corrigan, the Australian ex-middleweight, is not dead as reported several months ago. He is living in Oklahoma City.

CUP HOLDERS WANT SEVEN MEN TEAMS

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—It is probable that the Ottawa Hockey club will move the next meeting of the National Hockey association for a return to the former system of seven men teams. The secretary Martin Rosenthal contends that the motion was passed with a view to strengthening the opposing clubs and that the Ottawas should fight against it at once. "We have nothing to gain and everything to lose by dropping one of our seven stars," said Mr. Rosenthal.

Fred Taylor, of the Renfrew team, favors the six men idea, but this is only natural as the Listowel Cyclone requires a big ice space to get up his speed and has always been in his element when one or two of the opposing seven were sitting on the penalty bench. It is understood that the Renfrew club will advocate at next week's meeting, recognition of the franchise held by Ambrose O'Brien, which Tecumsehs claim to have bought. The Renfrew magnates favor the reduction of playing numbers.

The Yale News prints the following table which shows the results of eleven years campaign on the gridiron of the "Big Four:

	Won	Lost	Tied	Pts.	Opp.
Yale	102	6	8	2,353	182
Harvard	98	14	4	1,703	366
Princeton	81	15	6	1,913	292
Pennsylvania	107	16	9	2,411	468

Vancouver Wrestler Gets a Raw Deal From A. A. U. on English Trip

Wasn't Looked After and Had to Rub Himself Down Between Rounds—Too Many Honorary Jobs on the Trip Over the Pond

(By Barney Gosh.)

That George Walker was very badly treated by the Amateur Athletic union of Canada on his trip to England with the Canadian team engaged in competition with the United Kingdom and Australasia in the Festival of Empire championship competitions, is a fact which stands conclusively demonstrated to our mind.

For some time past, we have been reading in eastern exchanges interviews with members of the team in which it was plainly intimated that the Canadian athletes were ill-y treated on the trip, but of out of deference to the A.A.U. of C., we have sedulously refrained from any comment on the situation. We were assured that the eastern stories were children of the imagination, born in the diseased brain of sporting writers whose tendencies were to roast those of the A.A.U. of C., and that Walker would have a different story to tell on his return.

Did Walker have a different story? He did not.

He only confirmed the eastern writers, but added much information of a character that greatly strengthens them in their contentions.

Won the Championship.

That the Canadian team brought back with them the championship for which they fought is not to the credit of any good management on the part of the high officials who accompanied them on the trip to Britain, but rather to a personal pride in their own powers on the part of the individual members and a determination that Canada's athletic honor should be upheld against the empire even in the face of the rotten conditions under which some of the members worked.

The membership of the team was largely of the east. Sportsmen of the west will remember that an invitation was extended to British Columbia to enter candidates in the preliminary events leading up to a choice of contestants at the Festival of Empire, and but for the assistance of the Vancouver Athletic club, undoubtedly the best man in his class in the Dominion, would never have had a chance to make the trip.

Winnipeg End of the World.

As a matter of fact, the world ends about a mile west of Winnipeg as far as the A.A.U. of C. is concerned. The soporific old sports who run its destinies evidently believe that thois western empire is still trackless wild, its inhabitants a tribe of fish-devouring aborigines, with no place in the world of amateur sport at all, at all.

With the team to Britain went James G. Merrick, the benign old gentleman who is at the head of the A.A.U. of C., and who was in full charge of the party on the trip. Also went along Norman Crowe, of Toronto, secretary of the A.A.U. of C., whose principle function on the trip appears to have been looking after the $4,000 appropriated by the Dominion government, that no sou more than was absolutely necessary was spent on the real things, the athletes. Dr. Barton was there too. Dr. Barton was the honorary coach. Honorary pee-wee. When it came to a showdown, it took the boys about a minute to discover that the erudite gentleman of medicine knew just about as much of boxing and wrestling, as an elephant's left hind foot knows about tatting. Really, you know, boxing and wrestling are awfully coarse and brutal; they were too coarse and brutal for the medico's fine sensibilities, and when it came to helping the exponents of that branch of the game, he just simply wasn't there. Not a sign of anything that looked like a real trainer; a trainer was a useless appendage, and what could he do in representing the Dominion at the 4 o'clock pink teas, which were graced by the presence of the good doctor, and the benign Merrick and the keeper of the money bags? Not a thing—not a thing, so what was the use of packing one along?

The trip to England started off auspiciously in the second cabin of the Megantic from Montreal on June 8. Sure, we said the second cabin. There was only $4,000 to spend on ten athletes for a matter of a month or so, so the money must be conserved to the limit. The second cabin was greatly conducive to establishing respect for the team, and upholding the dignity of the Dominion in the eyes of the sporting world. When the boys got to London, they were put up at a very good hotel. Walker wanted to stay somewhere near the Polytechnic club, where there might be a chance of a workout, to put him in trim for his bouts. He had a whole lot of the medicine ball on the trip over, and nothing more. It was a strenuous work he was after to get him in shape for the task before him, and he got it—not. The good gentlemen in charge said the club was going to stay somewhere near the Crystal palace, and there they went. Walker was insistent that he be provided with facilities for training and a working partner to go through his paces with, and again he got them—not. Terms in his imporitunities, and at the lack of interest shown in the work ahead by Merrick and his fellows, Walker started out to secure a place and a partner for himself. By great good fortune he ran into a member of the German club in London, and through him personally arranged for his training. The only time he could secure an opportunity to work was in the late evening, and after going through two severe workouts he was forced to abandon the plan, the late hour at which he must perforce appear for supper, the German club being some distance away from the hotel at which the team was put up, sapping his energies and dissipating whatever of good might have come fro mthe physical work he indulged in. These two bouts were all the conditioning the British Columbian got between the time of his departure from Toronto and the day of his appearance at the competition on June 5. And all the time Merrick, Crowe and Barton standing by and looking on, supremely ignorant of the necessities of the case, or flagrantly unsensible to their duty towards their wrestler representative.

STRANGE OUTCOME OF GRUDGE FIGHT

"Gone, but not forgotten," they say of a star major league player when he slips from the glimmer of the big game lights to the lower and less brilliant calcium of the bush leagues, but that phrase applies to one player perhaps better than it ever fitted a dozen others. That is Frank Isbell, once a Chicago Cub and then for many years one of the greatest players who ever donned a Chicago White Sox uniform.

When "Issy" wasn't playing baseball he was playing something else, which consisted mostly of furnishing excitement and amusement to those around him. There wasn't anything he would hesitate to do if it was necessary to win a ball game, and "Issy" liked to win better than anything he ever did. As a story goes he was a seventeen jewelled affair.

Isbell joined the White Sox when they started to be White Sox under Charley Comiskey, at the time the American league invaded National league territory and located a club in Chicago. Incidentally he started pulling stunts at that time and he continued them until he went to the Western League to become owner of the Wichita club.

There was one play that "Issy" pulled which he delights in telling about. It saved the White Sox from a defeat, and that, too, at the hands of a bush league team, which shows how hard "Issy" would work to win.

It was his second year out with the Sox, and there were plenty of chances for the team to engage in exhibition games, especially in the east, where no league games are played on Sunday. The Sox were scheduled to play in Newark, and most of the players were pretty well tired out, as the season was nearing the close. Clarke Griffin was manager. When the team landed at the hotel in Newark to dress for the game some of them begged off, and finally Griff decided to take a chance and place a makeshift team in the field against the Eastern Leaguers. The lineup decided upon was a "peach." Griff played in right field under the name of Fielder Jones; Billy Sullivan showed as "Dutch" Hartman at third base; Jack Katoll, the pitcher, played first base as Isbell; a newspaper scribe who accompanied the team was at second base, and it was a misfit aggregation for fair. "Old Joe" Sugden, the catcher, and "Red" Harvey were about the only players who appeared in their regular positions.

The game was played in the fan yards and a big crowd filled the grand stand and bleachers. When hostilities started a wee little hurler was on the mound against the Sox. The wee person, whose name was Scherzer, turned out to be some pitcher, for he kept the Sox well in hand. Things looked bad for the Chicagos after eight innings had been played, for the best they could do in that time was to tap up one lonely run.

In the meantime Newark had gone along nicely and had accumulated four, and, with only one round to go, it looked like a beating for the Sox. Mr. Scherzer's chest started to expand when Shugart, the shortstop, stepped up to the plate for the ninth. Shugart singled and so did McFarland, the left fielder, who followed him. Joe Sugden was next. Just as he swung at the pitch someone in the bleachers started something. The bleacherites abused "Old Joe" scandalously for missing the ball, and the next minute Joe was on his way over to the bleachers, looking for the fellow. Over the fence went the bleacherite to meet him and in a minute the two were on the ground making it fiercely. A couple of other bleacherites hurdled the fence to aid their pal and in a moment half a dozen fights were on.

The scrap ended when the Newark police brandished their clubs and threatened wholesale arrests. Then Sugden resumed his place at the plate and swallowed out a single. The resounding smash of bat against ball continued until the entire Sox team had batted around, with two extra, and the result was a 7 to 4 victory for the Chicago team.

Isbell won that game for the Sox and claims credit for it, and he didn't win it on the diamond, either. The bleacherite who started the fight with Sugden was "Issy," and the assistant fighters were other Sox players in street attire.

BIG PRICE PAID FOR TRANSFER IN ENGLAND

London Sportsman—On Saturday the Newcastle United directors completed arrangements for the transfer from Bury of William Hibbert, the brilliant centre forward and inside left. He first played for Bryan Central. In recent years the following transfers have been arranged:

ORIENTAL RUG SALE

This Sale will continue for one more week. Already a large number of these beautiful Rugs have found a permanent place in the best Edmonton homes. However, having received a recent shipment, our lines are yet complete. The Rugs are being sold at a much less figure than is usually asked for such high-class goods.

Genuine Oriental Rugs

Such as we are now selling, should not be confused with the so-called Persian Rugs now on the Market.

These are mere reproductions of Persian designs, treated with acids to produce the silkiness found in the genuine article. Unlike Genuine Persian Rugs, which improve with wear, they lose their lustre and rapidly deteriorate. It is mistaken economy to purchase these goods even at a lower price.

COURIAN, BABAYAN & CO., who are conducting this sale, are the largest direct importers of Oriental Rugs in Canada, and have sold fully 90 per cent. of the rugs now in use in this country. During the eighteen years in which they have been conducting their business they have seen that every purchaser became a satisfied customer.

All these Rugs are sold with a guarantee to be exactly as represented, and can be exchanged at any of their branches or agencies throughout Canada, full allowance being made for purchase price any time within three years.

AN ENGLISHMAN'S VIEW OF BASEBALL

The national game of Russia consists in sending the cleverest citizens on working tours to Siberia. Spain delights in making the educated, and the favorite pastime in Ireland and Scotland is emigration, writes an old country sport follower. Bagatelle's chief hobby is building floating murder mansions, whilst America's delight is baseball. The German keeps fit by lifting a large beer mug to his own; the Portuguese keep in condition by rolling cigarettes; the Englishman keeps wide awake worrying about German invasions; but the Americans train by practising encouragements yells to cheer their favorite teams. My mission in writing this article is to popularize baseball in England. I have been to one match and studied Johnny McGraw's book on the game, and am therefore quite unbiased. It is rather an intricate and scientific game, but any person who reads these notes may become quite as expert as myself.

There are only about 895 rules to be observed. The best way to commence them is to commence at the age of six weeks and grow up with them.

Rule 70, however, seems to me a serious stumbling block to baseball popularity in England. Rule 70, if put into operation would play havoc with sport lovers. Rule 70 states that obscene language is not permitted. Fancy a silly rule like that tacked up on the door of a golf pavilion. It would change human nature and make us all inadequate to express the sentiments of a golfer's heart, but even the most cultured frequenter of the grandstand at a baseball match occasionally breaks through Rule 70. And the New Yorkers have less need of strong language than we have. Surely a climate which produces 117 in the shade expresses all the warmth necessary.

The ball which is used during the match is covered with horsehide. So many balls are lost, however, at cup-ties that horses are getting quite as scarce in New York as cats used to be in London. The ball is supposed to weigh ten ounces. The one which hit me in Central park, however, seemed much heavier. It smashed my meerschaum and made my mouth feel like a money box, in addition to compelling me to break rule 70 twelve times. The quickness with which it plunked for me would have made a top speed aeroplane appear to be standing still. I was glad to hear, on recovering consciousness, that it was thrown by an amateur pitcher; had it been a professional one, I should have qualified for life membership among Saint Peter's planet warblers.

The best baseball teams meet at the New York polo grounds, which is an unfinished symphony of half-erected stands surrounded by giant skyscrapers. To reach New York polo grounds from the Bowery, one should start walking the night before, or else take a 5-cent car early the same day, and tell the driver to stop at One-million-five-thousand- and-eighty-ninth street, Fourth avenue. Then you walk twenty blocks, and, above all, have faith."

Shakespeare's advice "Put money in thy purse," is absolutely necessary to the enjoymen. of the game. Not knowing the intricacies of the ground, I only booked a 50-cent seat. Unfortunately, I never got within half a mile of the players and I was compelled to study the game through a telescope. In England two shillings will purchase anything from a seat on a grandstand to three months in prison, but fifty cents in New York, will not permit you to pass the street door at the Knickerbocker hotel, and it is about as useful as a steamboat ticket at a dock strike. After paying my fifty-cents, I carefully tip-toed between the backs and feet of the spectators to secure by two shilling' worth. Between the uncushioned planks yawn crevasses, in case one wishes to drop one's pencil. Finally I reached the unplaned plank which I had purchased and sat down.

American lunatic asylums are full of unfortunate strangers who fancied they could learn baseball in less than fifty years. In spite of these lamentable failures, the game is quite simple—when thoroughly understood. Baseball is a cross between golf, football, cricket, rounders, raleevo, puss in the corner, jail fly ball, kiss in the ring and assassination. The principles weapons used during the friendly duel are clubs, horsehide balls, shoes with razors fixed to the soles, boxing gloves, umpires, catchers and spectators.

the draw for the order in which the men should appear. Walker entrusted his interests in this important matter to Merrick, and was shocked to learn that his representative was not present at the drawing at all. Walker was informed that someone had told Merrick that someone else had heard indirectly that he had been drawn against Smithe, of Australia, but he might have been drawn against a gorilla as far as Merrick really knew or appeared to care.

On the day of the bout, and again of his own initiative and unaccompanied by any official of the party, Walker appeared at the Crystal palace to weigh in. After a laborous search, he unearthed the proper functionary having that matter in hand, and was met with the startling information that there were no scales to weigh on. He was asked to accept the word of his opponents that they were down to weight, as he was himself, and was forced to do so though the representatives of Britain and Australasia might have pounds the advantage of him.

Getting on the mat, Walker met Smithe, and put him away after two sessions, one of fifteen minutes without a decision, but finally getting his man with a bar arm hold after the second had gone ten minutes. Smith was then immediately put on with Bacon, the English representative, who vanquished him in something less than three minutes, when, with but the three-minute period of rest, Walker was again called out to meet Bacon. The result was inevitable if the men were at all evenly matched, and Bacon, fresh as a daisy with only three minutes' work behind him, gained the fall over his opponent who had just emerged from twenty-five minutes' strenuous work with the Australian. To Walker's credit be it said that his downfall was not easy of accomplishment; he still feels that had he had a fair deal from Merrick and his pink tea "honorary" trainer, in aiding in his conditioning, he could have added another victory to the list annexed by the Canadians on the trip.

TEMPERANCE MAIN TOPIC DISCUSSED

AT ANNUAL CONVENTION OF SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION OPENED LAST NIGHT.

Temperance was the topic of the opening address by Mrs. McDonald of Chicago, field secretary of the woman's Christian temperance union at the opening session of the tenth annual provincial convention of the Alberta Sunday School association. The meeting was a temperance mass meeting. Mrs. McDonald during the course of her address expressed the belief that the best assets of a country are not so much its natural resources of agricultural lands or minerals, as its manhood and womanhood or in other words the citizenship of the country. She pointed out that for this reason the Sunday schools and other educational institutions of the church have a great work to do in instilling into the minds of the younger generation the spirit of service for their God and for their country, and the ideas of temperance in all things as fitting the life for usefulness in its full development.

She said that the saying "the world owes every man a living" was only a part truth. The world owed a living only to the men who gave somthing to the world in return for what they got.

The fact was emphasized that a child should not only be taught to abstain from certain things but should be taught also the good results that come from following the course of abstinence. Every lesson in temperance should be accompanied with reasons why temperance is beneficial to the child itself.

"Conservation of Alberta's Best Assets" was the subject of an address by Rev. W. G. Brown, of Red Deer, convenor of Presbyterian home missions from the Presbytery of Alberta. Speaking of the conservation of the provinces natural resources he said that this was a function that the government was expected to perform. He pointed out, however, that it was the work of the church and the Sunday school to conserve the best that is in the life of the child. The child's life, he said, was under the guardianship of the three best organized assets, the home, the school and the church. He declared that for the reason that it is women that give the helpful atmosphere to the home and the school the girls are almost more to be considered than the boys, and careful attention should be given to their training.

R. H. Roberts, M.P.P., for High river, came into Edmonton this morning.

Lucien Boudreau, M.P.P., for St. Albert, is spending a few days in the city. He came into Edmonton last evening.

Yesterday the voters list for polling division No. 1 was posted at the city hall. The remaining lists wil be published in the course of a few days.

BRIDES OF THE HOUR

The wedding took place at 12.30 yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, Strathcona, of Miss Catherine Maud Raitt, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Raitt and Rev. W. K. Thompson, of Staveley Alberta. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. G. Stewart of Robertson Presbyterian church. Only a few friends of the bride were present. After the wedding a dinner was served and Rev. and Mrs. Thompson left on the 3 o'clock train for the south.

MANY PROTESTS ARE NOW CERTAIN

COURT OF REVISION ON VOTERS' LIST WILL HEAR LARGE NUMBER OF APPEALS

When the city commissioners sit as a board of revision of the voters' list on the fifteenth of this month at 3 o'clock there is every likelihood that the board will have the most strenuous time they have ever experienced. Aside from the usual number of applicants to be placed on the list this year there will appear quite a number of individuals protesting against being kept from the voters' list under the city assessor's and city solicitor's unique interpretation of the tenants franchise act. There has been much protest regarding the remarkable interpretation of the city solicitor when he judged the question of whether or not a tenant voted upon the kind of a house he lived in.

And on the otherhand it is possible that tenants will not be given a hearing before the commissioners, but if the interpretation of the city assesor again is taken as a criterian, Mr. McMillan rules that there is no appeal to the commissioners from his decision regarding tenants' registration.

Today and tomorrow printed lists of all who are registered are being hung up in public places under the direction of City Assessor D. M. McMillan. Although the law requires that but three of these lists be stationed in public places, the city assessor is distributing fifty. He says that he wishes to give everybody an opportunity to ascertain whether or not his or her name is on the list. Any names that fail to appear on the list which should be there may be placed upon the list by order of the commissioners.

EVIDENCE UNRELIABLE.

After a preliminary hearing lasting over three days Gus Nelson was discharged by Magistrate Cowan this morning on the ground that the evidence was contradictory and unreliable. Nelson was charged with stealing $40 from John Maloney. Maloney claimed that he was drunk one night at the Senate hotel and that the defendant robed him. Mr. Cowan in summing up and dismissing the case stated that he could not place any reliance on Maloney's evidence because it would seem that neither his mind nor his body was in a fit condition to realize what really did happen.

C.P.R. OFFICIAL PROMOTED

Vice President Bosworth Will Have Charge of a Number of Departments in Future.

(Western Associated Press.)

Montreal, Que., Nov. 9.—A circular issued at the C.P.R. head offices here this morning, and signed by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the company, announces that hereafter, Vice President G. M. Bosworth, will have supervision of the telegraph, hotel and sleeping, dining and parlor car departments of the company. The chiefs of these departments will report to him.

MAY BE MURDER.

Calgary, Nov. 9.—The body of a man who apparently died three or four months ago was found near the banks of the Red River, near Munson, on Thursday morning. The body has been exposed so long that identification is impossible. The discovery was made by a rancher looking for cattle.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Jan Kubelik will appear at the Empire theatre on November 22. The Bohemian violinist whose genius has enthralled four continents, will not again visit America after the close of his present tour, and for large numbers of Edmontonians, no opportunity to hear this master musician may recur.

A sum of $2,850 will be spent in the prizes to be awarded at the annual show of the Twin Cities Poultry and Pet Stock association to be held on December 19 to 22. In addition to this amount no less than $400 will be spent in special prizes. At a meeting of the association held in the exhibition offices on Tuesday evening, the additions to the prize list were discussed.

Yesterday the fourth case of smallpox to occur in the city was reported to the health department. The first person to be taken down with the disease was an employee of the government buildings who is now completely recovered and out of quarantine. It was to this case that the other three were traced.

A charge of improper dismissal brought against L. Bourassa by Joseph L. Lalonde in the police court yesterday, but not finally disposed of. A charge of false pretenses preferred against two men named Pelletier and Papineau was withdrawn. The hearing of a charge of theft preferred against Gus Nelson by J. Maloney will be continued tomorrow before Magistrate Cowan. Wm. Brown and J. McLeod, charged with the theft of an overcoat, will come up for trial this afternoon.

Surface water from the grounds of the Edmonton exhibition association in the east end, drained from the grounds by the system now being installed, will be pumped by means of an electric motor and small pump to the large lake in the recreation park to the south. During the next year or eighteen months all the water will be disposed of in this way for the draining of the grounds, as it will not be until the season of 1913 that connection can be made to the new Rat Creek tunnel sewer.
